Decision in the Supreme Court in the Case of the O. S. N. Co vs. Winser et al.

WASHINGTON March 10—In the U S Supreme Court the Oregon Steam Navigation Company vs Winser et al in error from the supreme court of Washington Territory Plaintiff in error sued to recover $75,000 as stipulated damages for an alleged breach of covenant the averment being that in May 1864 the California Steam Navigation Co was engaged in the transportation of freight and passengers on the waters of that State that they sold to plaintiff the steamer New World for the sum in question and for the further consideration of a covenant whereby plaintiff agreed not to run or employ the steamer or suffer it to be run or employed on any of the [illegible] or rivers bays or waters of California for a period of ten years, with a penalty of $75,000 for breach of covenant. The Court held the covenant to be in restraint of trade and as imposing unreasonable restrictions and therefore void. This decision is assigned as error in this Court, plaintiff in error maintaining that such partial restraint as this case presents, is grounded upon a [illegible] and is not open to the objection sustained [illegible]. The case was argued by Geo H Williams for plaintiff in error and by B [illegible] Denison for [illegible].

News of the Ashantee Expedition--Final Submission of King Coffee.

LONDON March 10—Additional dispatches from the Gold Coast report that Gen Wolseley recrossed the river Prah Feb 15th. Three of the kings tributary to King Coffee have given in their submission to British supremacy The Ashantee throne is considered at an end and the kingdom is hopelessly disrupted

Stanley, the Herald correspondent, telegraphs from Lisbon that negotiations between Sir Garnet Wolseley and the King of Ashantee are completed. The king agrees to pay 50,000 ounces of gold and renounces all claims to Adansi and other territory as specified and consents to withdraw from Appolonia and the coast provinces to keep the road free from Commassie and the river Prah to protect commerce and prohibit human sacrifices, and to keep peace forever

Spanish War News—Serrano in the Field

LONDON March 10—A Standard special from Spain says Serrano and Gen Dominguez are at Castro Urdiales, twenty five miles east of Santander on the Bay of Biscay and are daily receiving reinforcements. Don Carlos has ordered siege operations against Irun and Bidasoa.

BRAINED WITH A FLAT IRON.—A special from Saratoga Springs to the Albany Argus, March 1st says a horrible murder was committed last night at Does Corners, a small settlement in the town of Wilton, about four miles north of this village George Lee and his father farmers, living near this village, had gone to attend a political town caucus leaving James H Standish, a single man, who owned the farm, but lived with the family, at home On the return of Lee and his father the wife of Geo Lee charged Standish with insulting her This led to an altercation in the course of which, Standish seized a hot flat-iron from the stove, with which he struck Lee a terrible blow on the head, felling him to the floor in which position he continued to strike him with the iron until the man's head was crushed to a horrid unshapely mass and his brains were scattered over the floor Standish was arrested and brought to Saratoga None of the parties appear to have been in liquor. Lee was a respectable man and was held in high regard by his neighbors He was about forty years old. Standish moved into town about a year ago. He has some property and no apparent bad habits In his cell to day he complained of a bad headache but did not seem to fully realize the terrible crime he had committed or its awful consequences

A NEW ANECDOTE OF TOM MARSHALL.—Tom Marshall came to Utica in 1867 to lecture on 'The Life and Times of Henry Clay' He appeared under the auspices of no association his advent was poorly advertised the price of admission was fixed at a higher rate than our people had been accustomed to pay and—strange to add—Tom Marshall's fame had hardly penetrated central New York. As was usual with him in his latter years he yielded abjectly to his taste for liquor and but as the hour arrived for him to speak he was staggering drunk He reeled into the hall and mounted the stage, with unsteady steps Looking about him he saw an array of empty benches and just thirteen gentlemen who had gathered to hear him He counted the audience deliberately one by one and when he had finished he said 'Thirteen—just thirteen Well I've not forgotten that when my Lord and Master was on earth he had only twelve followers and one of them was a d—d traitor!' If the dash of blasphemy and the flavor of profanity disgusted some of his few hearers they forgot their disgust in [illegible] ration of a speech which notwithstanding the condition of the orator was full of [illegible] power and beauty.—Utica Obs

REVOKED HIS LICENSE TO PREACH.—A New York dispatch of March [illegible] says Bishop Potter of this diocese and Bishop [illegible] of the diocese of Brooklyn have revoked the license to preach granted by them to Dr [illegible] for the reason that he [illegible] non-Episcopal pulpits and delivered lectures on frivolous subjects. The expression of the broad church views by Dr Porteous and the movement among the liberal Episcopalians of Brooklyn to secure the Doctor for pastor are suggested as additional reasons for the revocation of his license to preach

BURIED ALIVE.—A New York dispatch of March 6th says During the absence of Anthony Cogswell of Chapmanville, his wife apparently died and was buried On returning he had the coffin opened and it was found that the body had turned in its place indicating that the woman was only in a trance when interred The discovery so affected the husband that he is now a maniac

WHO ARE THE GENUINE REFORMERS

[illegible]

HAYSTACK [illegible] March 11, 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I regret to observe by reading one of your paper which comes to my house that you are disposed to stir up bad feelings between neighbors and friends and create dissatisfaction with our Government. Now sir I think that a little reflection on your part will convince you that you have fallen into error [illegible] And while I [illegible] [illegible] very inconsistent

You [illegible] great [illegible] reformers but it [illegible] that you shut your eyes to the facts. The Republican party was reformed several years ago and I am contented with its working and satisfied that it is now in the hands of the only men capable and willing to give us those reforms which are worth getting. Formerly when such men as Horace Greeley were allowed any voice in public affairs, no respectable gentleman could afford to go into politics or hold office There was nothing to be got by it Greeley was raised on sweet apples and skim milk and he was so hide bound penurious and economical as to be incapable of large and liberal views in the collection and disbursement of public money or the regulating of official salaries And I regret to see that you, and many other professed Republicans (and even some Democrats), seem to have accepted his views and are now talking in a most startling manner about honesty in office lower salaries reduction of taxes &c

After we whipped out the rebels it was generally conceded that we all ought to be rewarded Gen Grant had spilled his life's blood and Butler was reduced to a mere skeleton in his terrible duties at New Orleans and it was nothing more than right to reward these estimable and patriotic statesmen with a few dollars and a Postoffice or so How can we expect to get soldiers in the next war if we don't reward them? I should like to know who is going to shoulder his musket and betake himself to the tented field if there are to be no more Postoffices and Custom House to distribute to a man's family and friends and no more accumulation of a man's hard earnings in the shape of a [illegible] increase of his niggardly salary? You see at once sir if the impracticable views you advocate should once become the law of the land we should lose the services of such great soldiers as Butler and Howard and such statesmen as Ames and Tweed while Grant, Colfax and others would turn their attention to such base pursuits as horse racing temperance lecturing etc Then again that is the only way to keep up the strength of the party We must offer rewards See how well this system works By conducting public business in this way, we have secured such able and worthy public officers as Crawford in the Custom House, Cole in the Postoffice Ben Simpson in the Surveyor General's Office, and Upton on the Bench while Holladay as a genuine Reformer and Republican manager, has never had his likes in Oregon These men were all once in the bonds of Democratic iniquity—but now they are reformed Republicans

It won't do to be so narrow and impracticable in your views, or to permit tax payers and Grangers to give utterance to their crazy diatribes in your paper You have a good paper a large circulation and many of my neighbors have taken it for twenty years and just swear that the OREGONIAN is generally about right But you ought to be reasonable I see that some impracticable misguided man writes a letter to your paper, signs his name, 'A Tax payer' in which he says he can discharge the duties of Assessor of your county for $1,000 or Clerk for $4,000, or Sheriff for much less than now paid while he figures that your county might save seventy [illegible] thousand dollars per year by electing tax payers to these offices The proposition is absolutely ridiculous. How can any man moderate the opposition of the saloons appease the deadly hostility of the [illegible] boys and hire the necessary number of private policemen livery stables &c &c on election day and live in a fine house, pay due attention to the ladies subscribe liberally to Senatorial receptions and generally to maintain the rank and support the dignity of a county officer on the pitiful sum of four thousand dollars per year for himself and deputies How, oh! How

When I went down to Portland to get the postoffice I subscribed to the Bulletin and became its duly accredited agent in these parts and have read it faithfully ever since I also went with the editor of that paper and carefully examined the civil service and entire workings of his Custom House and I am free to say that a more genuine reformer than the editor of the Bulletin cannot be found He keeps everything at the Custom House in the most thoroughly reformed manner Employing an ample force of able assistants, deputies and clerks the duties of the Custom House is made a pleasure to its occupants and a shining model for all public offices in the land Just observe how complete and perfect the organization

Hon Harvey W Scott Collector in Chief and Editor of the Bulletin salary	[illegible]
[illegible] Shortleff Deputy Collector (and man of all work)	[illegible]
J I Ward Deputy Collector	[illegible]
Captain Medorum Crawford Appraiser of Goods	[illegible]
Daniel J Malarkey Weigher and Gauger	1 800
George I [illegible] Deputy Weigher and Gauger	1 [illegible]
Colonel I H Briggs, Clerk to the Collector	1 [illegible]
Major [illegible] Clerk to the Weigher	1 [illegible]
J T Ferguson Inspector of the Customs	1 [illegible]
W R Willcrell Deputy Inspector	1 [illegible]
James Miles Inspector in the Night service	1 [illegible]
James W [illegible] Deputy Inspector in the Night Service	1 [illegible]
Hon George [illegible] Riley Collector's Valet	1 [illegible]
B C Dunaway [illegible]
[illegible]	1 [illegible]
F H Beard Storekeeper of the Warehouse	1 [illegible]

There Mr Editor is a civil service organization worthy of the attention of all persons aspiring to the honorable position of Oregon legislators Upon that model let them reform all our county governments and [illegible] humanity will rise up to call them blessed Behold the imposing array [illegible] [illegible] distinguished [illegible] revolving in his own proper orbit [illegible] duty [illegible] [illegible] and financial economy [illegible] collector weigher inspector [illegible] watchman etc, [illegible] exclusive deputy [illegible] without [illegible] [illegible] the salaries of these hard-working [illegible] poorly rewarded public servants [illegible] [illegible] rigid [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] further or demand more? And then [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] codes and hoop poles from Vancouver [illegible] [illegible] prevent smuggling of these cargoes

Now all this [illegible] for the trifling sum of some twenty five or thirty thousand dollars per annum with possibly now and then a [illegible] of the forfeiture of some Chinese cigars or old clothes for attempted smuggling And although I have heard it charged that Mr Scott's Custom House did not do as much business in a year as [illegible] would in one month and that as a matter of fact Mr Shortleff really performs all the work of every description done at the Custom House yet I am disposed to receive all such charges with many grains of allowance being satisfied, in my own mind that they originate with [illegible] of [illegible] persons of that ilk [illegible] thoroughly [illegible] that the [illegible] gentlemen whom you attempt to stigmatize as the Custom House Ring are the only true and genuine reformers [illegible] of reforming public affairs in this State See what they have done for our noble party At Albany even at the State Convention at Albany where they were bitterly traduced by their enemies and in the face of the most bitter opposition they triumphantly carried [illegible] reform in political morals whereby [illegible] [illegible] embezzlement and other [illegible] can be made harmless if not even respectable and the authors of them [illegible] and regenerated without even [illegible] And for this great reform unparalleled within the memory of man [illegible] the Republican party cast [illegible] vote at the October election It is true it was defeated by the people but for the first attempt to adopt it at the polls the result was wonderful and if we keep on gaining votes in the [illegible] this new doctrine will soon be made the corner stone of a new religious sect

Now Mr Editor if you are not hopelessly given over to unbelief and hardness of heart you must see that you have wandered astray And hoping that you will retrace your steps and flee from the wrath to come I remain sincerely and prayerfully yours

The Owyhee Avalanche states that the mining prospects in Idaho were never better and predicts a splendid turnout of the precious metals the coming season

A letter from Dayton W T says The second winter that has set in is destroying a great deal of stock of all descriptions which is a great hardship upon our farmers and stock growers

The house of Mr McCormick, a few miles from Walla Walla was burned down last week It was the same building in which James Corrigle was murdered by Indians as is supposed last fall

Mr Lunn gives it as his opinion that the Columbia river is between four and five feet lower at Wallula than it was last fall at the time the boats quit running No estimates have been made as to how long it will take at this rate to dry the river entirely up It is quite probable that the river could easily be forded at Hendrick Rapids now

The Salt Lake News of a late date has some remarks concerning the growth of barley in Utah Territory and truthfully says that it is a grain more productive and requiring a briefer season than wheat and oats Some Utah barley has been forwarded to the Eastern States and we hear good reports of it that it is highly prized and beginning to be sought after

Latest reports from Verde reservation represent the discipline maintained among the Apaches whipped by Gen Crook as excellent Lieut Schuyler's command of 40 picked Indian trailers having to be increased to 100 near [illegible] Apaches presented themselves as volunteers to be enlisted so that Lieut Schuyler had no difficulty in securing the best material for his detachment A scouting party is now being organized at Camp Verde for service in Tonto basin.

Advices from Lieut Babcock's command at Camp Apache, Arizona, are confirmatory of the reports already published of the results of his recent scout Three rancheries were attacked one being taken complete but the occupants of the other two discovered the approach of our troops in time to make their escape with the loss of six killed The weather was very inclement, one snow storm lasting five days and occasioning serious inconvenience to the troops

The Walla Walla Statesman of the 7th inst says We understand that Col Conover in charge of the Umatilla Reservation has received orders to gather up all the renegade Indians in this section of the country and turn them over to the military In the early part of the week Conover was in town for the purpose of conferring with Col Green in relation to these renegades, but the latter not having received instructions from the War Department nothing definite was accomplished

The Colorado Colonization Company has been organized in San Francisco for the purpose of establishing colonies upon certain land lying adjacent to the Colorado river between Yuma and the mouth of that stream There are now men engaged in cutting vast fields of wild hemp upon said land and machinery is on the way for manufacturing this hemp into cordage and bagging material It further states that the Company intend to cultivate rice and cotton, and that they have already shipped the necessary seed also seeds of the Kentucky hemp to propagate after the wild crop shall have been cut

The Lewiston Signal has this item Claims [illegible] been discovered last fall two quartz ledges on the divide between Pine Creek and Silver Creek in this county, which have recently been prospected and proven to be of sufficient value to cause a number of men to come to Lewiston and record claims, the names of which are Ben Summerfield Charles Green Martin Koons William Koons and J W Davenport The former of these gentlemen says that one of the ledges which has been named [illegible] Excelsior is six feet in width that at the depth of eight feet below the surface rock was obtained which assayed $400 in gold and $100 in silver—four ounces yielded twenty cents in gold

DISRAELI'S VITUPERATION.—Commenting on one of Mr Disraeli's election speeches, the Times says 'We must reprobate very strongly the personal bitterness and almost vituperation in which the speaker indulges It recalls the worst passages in Mr Disraeli's career and what could be pardoned in a rising politician is not to be excused in a veteran statesman It is going far beyond the bounds of gentlemanly controversy to compare Mr Gladstone to a common thief who throws snuff in the eyes of a tradesman and runs off with a jewel But it was a far greater offence to accuse [illegible] and suggest that when he said his prayers on Wednesday night he must have felt there had been a stain that day upon his candor and his conscience [illegible] is a style of controversy which has long been banished from English political life and to see it revived is distressing to all who are jealous of the dignity of our public men Mr Disraeli has reason to complain of the persistency with which he is taunted with his refusal of office last Spring and has a right to say that Mr Gladstone having refrained from entering into the controversy at the time ought now to let it rest It has been reserved however for Disraeli to bring against his antagonist what amounts to a charge of conscious dishonesty and in doing so he has committed a grave offence against rules far higher than those of literary solicitude

A PLAGIARIST.—Governor Moses of South Carolina is a most unfortunate man Owing to some curious defect in his mental constitution whenever he sits down to write he is full as likely to use the exact language of some one else as he is to invent any of his own He sent a message to the Legislature recently and a striking passage from Macaulay slipped into it in the most unaccountable way The other day he put the unregenerate of his constituents [illegible] [illegible] but its beneficial effect has been a [illegible] weakened by the discovery that it was an almost literal transcript from a sermon by the Rev Robert Hall [illegible] Poor Moses He came to [illegible] being a [illegible] stealer—N Y [illegible]

PRUNING THE ARMY.—A Washington special, March 6th, says the bill for the reorganization of the army as formerly agreed upon by the House Military Committee makes a reduction of eight regiments in all cutting down the infantry to twenty the artillery to four and the cavalry to eight regiments This will leave the aggregate of the army at [illegible] instead of 30,000 men as it now stands The committee do not expect to pass the bill without encountering a great deal of determined opposition, and have made up their minds to have a hard fight the result of which is doubtful

CALL FOR AN INDEPENDENT STATE CONVENTION.

The Douglas County Independent Tax-payers' Convention having assembled this 28th day of February 1874 and nominated a full Legislative and County ticket and having [illegible] in full harmony [illegible] of the counties that seem [illegible] having organized for the purpose of recommending an Independent State ticket the following resolution on motion was unanimously adopted

Resolved That in the opinion of this Convention the interest of the people of Oregon will be better subserved by independent political action and by strict adherence [illegible] party organizations and that the people of the several counties of the State be and hereby are requested to select delegates to an Independent State Convention to be held at Salem on the 15th day of April A D 1874 at 10 o'clock A M for the purpose of nominating a State ticket to be presented to the voters at the coming election

This Convention recommends that in selecting such delegates the basis of apportionment be one delegate for every 200 votes cast at the election of 1872 for Wilson and Hurlburt and one additional delegate for a fraction of 100 votes and over Upon this basis the number of delegates from the respective counties will be as follows

CHARLES SUMNER

It is with profound emotion and the deepest sense of a grave national calamity that we announce the death of Charles Sumner senior Senator from Massachusetts and one of the last of that race of statesmen whose names and deeds have lent imperishable luster to the Republic The announcement will be received with painful surprise throughout all the land for although Senator Sumner has been an invalid for many years his friends had hoped and trusted that he would be spared to see the near fulfillment of his labors in that Senate which he had adorned with unequaled dignity and statesmanship for twenty four consecutive years But it was not to be He has at last yielded to the summons of him who cometh bearing the inverted torch and goeth leaving behind him naught but the ashes imprinted with his footsteps

Charles Sumner was born in Boston, Massachusetts, January, 6 1811 His father was a lawyer of considerable eminence and marked purity of character, and his mother was one of the highest types of the New England matron His earliest education was received at the Boston Latin School In 1826 he entered Harvard College, and in 1830 was graduated with honors In 1831 he commenced his studies at Cambridge Law School The illustrious Story was his tutor and between the two there was a most intimate friendship which continued unbroken for years. Senator Sumner was admitted to the Boston bar in 1834 During the three years following he occupied Judge Story's chair in Cambridge Law School lecturing on the Constitution of the United States and international law He also published three volumes of Story's decisions which are known as Sumner's Reports The three years from 1837 to 1840 were spent in European travel He returned to Boston in the winter of 1840 and resumed the practice of his profession

The attention of the people of the United States was first directed to Mr Sumner in 1845, and the occasion was the delivery of his famous oration on 'The True Grandeur of Nations" which was characterized by Richard Cobden as 'the noblest contribution made by any modern writer to the cause of peace' In this notable oration, which was quite as remarkable for its bold argument as for its rhetorical finish, Mr Sumner plead earnestly for the settlement of international differences by peaceful arbitration When the question of a war with Mexico agitated the Whig party, Mr Sumner carried his doctrine of peaceful arbitration and his hatred of human slavery to the extent of separating himself from that party He associated himself with the Freesoilers and supported Martin VanBuren and Charles Francis Adams in the Presidential campaign of 1848 In 1850 Daniel Webster resigned his seat in the Senate to accept a portfolio in the Cabinet of President Fillmore There ensued, in Massachusetts, a long and bitter struggle for the Senatorship. The contest was watched with eager interest by all sections and parties It was terminated by a union of Freesoilers and Democrats upon Charles Sumner On December 1 1851, Senator Sumner first entered the national legislature Here he speedily rose to distinction In the debates on the Fugitive Slave Act, the repeal of the Missouri Compromise and the Kansas contest, he stood shoulder to shoulder with the greatest intellects of that generation All his splendid powers were employed to crush the system of human slavery which the South sought to carry into the new States. His matchless eloquence was carried over all the land In every Northern home the name of Charles Sumner was linked with the slowly dawning hope of Emancipation. His speech on the Kansas question, which was printed and widely circulated under the title, The Crime against Kansas," fired the Southern heart and provoked the cowardly assault of Preston S Brooks, who on May 28, 1856, attacked Mr Sumner in the Senate Chamber with a heavy cane and inflicted injuries from which the Senator from Massachusetts never altogether recovered In the old Bay State the intelligence of this dastardly assault was received with the most intense sorrow and indignation The faithful Senator was canonized, and even while it was believed that he would not survive his injuries, the Massachusetts General Court met (1857) and re-elected him by a vote which was in effect unanimous—only seven members, out of over two hundred, dissenting In 1858, at the earnest request of his friends and much against his own wishes, he went to Europe and there submitted himself to sundry severe operations at the hands of the most eminent medical counsel of the continent Returning in the winter of 1859 he entered on the exciting scenes of the closing decade with renewed zeal His speeches in the Presidential campaign of 1860 added new glory to a reputation which had by this time become national

It is not for us to rehearse the services of Charles Sumner during the great rebellion They are indissolubly linked with the fame of the martyred Lincoln For ten years he occupied the responsible position of chairmanship of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations In the darkest hour of our national existence he was the central figure at Washington We looked to him for counsel and his inspiring words never fell on heedless ears

Some looking upon the dead statesman in the fullness of their hearts will say He never erred except upon the side of justice, he never went astray unless it was to bring his countrymen nearer to his own lofty ideal of the republican state

The last days of Senator Sumner's life were devoted to that race towards whose emancipation he so largely contributed The passage of the Supplementary Civil Rights bill seemed to be the ultima thule of his hopes and his ambitions He was not permitted to see the completion of his life work Immediately on the close of the war Senator Sumner addressed himself to the work of effacing the lingering animosities which stood in the way of a perfect union [illegible] North and South Some of his measures were severely criticised, and the General Court of his native State adopted a series of resolutions censuring him therefor This, perhaps was the bitterest trial of his life But he lived through calumny and the assaults of envious men Only a few days before his last illness came upon him the General Court of Massachusetts rescind the censure of its predecessor by an overwhelming majority in both houses

Here we leave him His eminent services as a friend of mankind will speak his virtues, trumpet tongued, through all the ages Funeral honors will be accorded to him high sounding eulogies will voice his splendid fame a State will bow in unfeigned grief and the monumental pile will rise above his ashes But there remains a higher honor and a nobler recompense his name is written upon the hearts of four millions of freedmen His is no uncertain fame But he is gone and who shall fill his place

Ah! Not for him we weep
What honor more could be in store for him
Who would have had him linger in our dim
And troublesome world when his great work was done?
Who would not leave that worn and weary one
Gladly to go to sleep

O noblest one farewell
Thou hast not left thy people quite alone
Out of thy beautiful life there comes a tone
Of power of love of truth—a prophecy
Whose fair fulfillment all the Earth shall be
And all the Future tell

The Indian famine chiefly afflicts the natives of Hindostan Mr Archibald Forbes correspondent of the London Daily News writes that all the districts in which the scarcity of food prevails are remote from railroads and very difficult of approach Lord Northbrook, Governor General of India, attempted to stay the famine on its first appearance, by commencing extensive public works upon which the natives were put to work The irrigation by a canal of the parched rice fields the building of the Northern Bengal Railroad and the embankment of the river Gunduck a tributary of the Ganges were contemplated The natives were paid in money which was exchanged for food at government stores But these sources were soon exhausted Only 40,000 laborers could be employed on the works and this number was but a drop in the bucket compared with the millions who were starving in distant provinces The Government has already imported [illegible]0 000 tons of rice from beyond the seas Notwithstanding its prompt and earnest efforts there is such a gloomy prospect ahead that Mr Forbes feels obliged to write 'On the whole I entertain a most depressed conviction of coming calamity for I have merely touched a most momentous topic'

The death of Charles Sumner will be the occasion of renewed strife in the Republican party of Massachusetts It has long been known that B F Butler covets the high office which for twenty three years has been occupied by an honest man The whole country has an interest in seeing him defeated Among the possible candidates George F and E R Hoar are most conspicuous just now Henry L Dawes will perhaps, make a strong fight although there appears to be a desire, on the part of some to see him installed in a higher position The next General Court of Massachusetts will be the arena of a contest in which one or the other of the two wings of the Republican party in Massachusetts will meet its death Meanwhile, all good people may rest assured that Governor Washburn will not appoint a Butler man to succeed the dead Senator

New York charity is of a queer order Several of the societies for the relief of the poor expend quite as much of their revenue in salaries, in a year as in food and raiment for their wards This is carrying out with a vengeance the old adage Charity begins at home. But the latest and about the meanest feature is related by the Herald of recent date A dozen bootblacks have organized a kind of amateur dramatic society They donate the proceeds of their underground theater to the poor. They handed over fifty six dollars a few days ago and the Society for the Reformation of Juveniles, hearing of it came down on the bootblacks with a demand for five hundred dollars—a license fee which the law authorizes them to collect from theatrical companies This is the cheekiest performance of the centuries

The ubiquitous John Smith is in Washington telling naughty stories about one J J Saville Indian Agent at the Red Cloud Agency He is a General Gen John is his name in full and he alleges that Saville deals out such excessive issues of beef to the sportive red men under his charge, that large quantities are left to rot the Indians taking only the hides which they trade for ammunition which in turn, finds its way back to the whites through the handsome breech loaders which our paternal Government sometimes dispenses to its wards Saville has telegraphed to Washington remarking that Gen John Smith is a liar and a horse thief Here is a fine chance for a tribunal of arbitration

A full attendance of the business men and property owners of the city at the railroad meeting this evening will indicate an earnestness on the part of our people in the construction of this much needed line of transportation, that Congress may not feel at liberty to disregard

The Philadelphia Historical Society held a grand jubilee the other day over Ben Franklin's sword and a set of curious China which was presented to Poor Richard by his admirers at the French Court

PLAIN TALK TO GRANT

The Boston [illegible] addresses an open letter to General Grant in which it indulges in this bit of very plain talk The issue is too broad and deep to be lightly handled It is the great struggle between purity and self respect and degrading corruption In this struggle there is no room for compromise or half-measures it is impossible to bargain between good and evil We are speaking soberly and most seriously and it is not well to disregard our words What we desire sir and what we must have is reform [illegible] employment [illegible] of the administrative service of this country [illegible] rotten [illegible] corruption has eaten to its very core [illegible] to use the machinery of [illegible] for their own aggrandizement utterly neglectful of the wants of the people and these wants are neither few nor small On this evil we must trample [illegible] Party questions cannot enter here On this [illegible] all honorable men who love their country are united—all Republicans all Democrats

The great party which has so long stood for higher aims than [illegible] of unscrupulous politicians Properly led [illegible] the reformation of [illegible] the country's shame and in the conduct of the [illegible] of public policy which have [illegible] after year neglected and forgotten [illegible] now it has only a future of bitter disaster and disgrace to you to us and to the nation The moment now seems at hand when a decision can no longer be postponed and we hope sir and trust—nay more we demand that you your Ministers and Congress will choose the path which statesmanship which integrity and which courage dictate and be assured sir that in so doing you will have the united and hearty support of all that is manly and [illegible] in the American people

LIBEL IN ODD FELLOWSHIP

A VERDICT OF $10 000 AGAINST A LODGE FOR DEFAMING A PAST GRAND

[From the New York Sun]

Several months ago every Odd Fellows Lodge in the United States, and many members personally, received through the mails a peculiar circular from Cuyahoga Lodge of Cleveland Ohio It was printed on fine white note paper in elegant typography and was headed with the wood cut portrait of a man in the regalia of the order Under the portrait was the following explanation

Edwin Lyle whose picture we give here and who has been a Past Grand in our Lodge was expelled for contempt being charged of having collected money of various brothers from our district to the amount of $114 for the support of the widow of our late deceased brother Robert Birdwell but never turned this money over either to the Lodge when called upon nor to the widow In consequence of the foregoing Cuyahoga Lodge No 22 I O O F passed the following resolution

Resolved That we expose said Edwin Lyle by sending circulars all over the United States to reach if possible every working Lodge with his likeness attached and thereby warn every brother of the I O O F and likewise brand the said Edwin Lyle as a bad man a swindler and a perjured villain unworthy the trust and confidence of any living man and warn the public generally as well as any brother especially to beware of him in any capacity in life (Signed)

COMMITTEE OF CUYAHOGA LODGE

Five thousand of these circulars were sent out and in addition an advertisement was inserted in several Cleveland newspapers like this

Edwin Lyle of I O O F defrauded an Odd Fellow's widow of $114 collected from Odd Fellows for her benefit occupation plasterer For further particulars apply to Cuyahoga Lodge No 22 I O O F Cleveland Ohio

Mr Lyle at once sued Cuyahoga Lodge for libel estimating the hurt to his character at $30 000 and the trial has just ended in the Superior Court in Cleveland before Judge Jones The case was devoid of [illegible] and the amount of testimony admitted was small The plaintiff showed the character and extensive circulation of the defamatory document The defendants offered in mitigation to prove the truth of the charges against Lyle but the Court ruled that their truth or falsity did not affect the merits of the case The lodge unlike a newspaper was not in the business of publishing news and the jury must judge of their motives from an entirely different standpoint It was also urged for the defense that the lodge was simply a benevolent organization without stockholders and consequently not liable but the Court decided that its charter by the State gave it a responsible existence The jury agreed without difficulty upon a verdict of $10 000 for Mr Lyle The intrinsic value of his success, however may not be very great as the assets of the lodge are only about $1 000 and the members cannot individually be held responsible for the payment of the judgment

CITY.

A DEAD [illegible] FOUND.—In a conversation yesterday with Mr C W Burrage, who returned on the Vancouver from down the river we are placed in possession of the following additional particulars concerning the finding of the remains of an unknown man to which allusion was made in our last issue. Mr Burrage was engaged in putting up notices in relation to a new road as directed by the County Court when he found the body. Having occasion to pass through a patch of thick brush in order to get around the head of a swale he suddenly came on the body. It was lying across a log a few rods distant from the bank of the Willamette and about one-third of a mile this side of the head of the Willamette Slough. From appearance the man was about 40 years of age and notwithstanding death had ensued several days previous the body was in a good state of preservation. The hair was black, the only gray hairs about him being noticeable in his chin whiskers. A man answering his description was observed passing the Watts farm late on Thursday afternoon and it is supposed that he had become tired of life and wandered off into the woods for the express purpose of taking his life. On the log near by his right hand lay a small single-barreled pistol with the empty shell of the cartridge still in the breech, and in his forehead immediately over the right eye was a gunshot wound which seemed to correspond with the bore of the weapon beside him. The deceased was dressed in a grey coat white shirt dark vest brown pants (striped in two different shades) calf boots and a black felt hat. Coroner Dryer had sent down instructions on Tuesday to Mr Burrage to obtain the nearest Justice of the Peace and have him hold an inquest over the remains. But it appears that no magistrate could be procured to perform that necessary office. Yesterday afternoon Coroner Dryer, accompanied by Mr Cook the undertaker took the Vancouver and started down to hold the inquest and probably to bring the remains to this city. There had been no examination of the person of the deceased and it is not known what papers may be discovered in the pockets. If it will assist in leading to the identification of the remains they will very probably be brought up to this city. Coroner Dryer will return to the city to day.

GRAND PARADE.—On that fearful day—August 2d 1873—which will ever be remembered by the residents of Portland with a shudder the large and elegant brick engine house occupied by Protection Co No 4 fell before the devouring element. Seven months and a few days have passed away since that dreadful conflagration and on the same site has risen from the ashes another edifice equal in every respect to the one destroyed. This building was completed last week and is ready for the occupancy of this Company whose members have ever shown themselves to be firemen in the true sense of the word and of which any city can feel proud. To day has been fixed by the members of Protection No 4 for the formal housing of their steamer. As is the custom with firemen the induction of an engine into new quarters is an occasion for the observance of certain long established formalities. It will be observed to day by music, parade lunch, and a grand ball in the evening. By arrangement, the members of Protection will meet in front of the engine house of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company on First street, at one o'clock. Here the procession will be formed. Headed by the East Portland Band, the two companies will visit the respective engine houses of the Department where the bells will be rung after the usual manner and delegations from each join the procession. After all the houses have been visited the procession will march through the principal streets of the city and up to their new quarters at the corner of Jefferson and First, where the engine will be formally "housed." All the firemen assembled, and attending guests will then be invited to partake of a splendid lunch which is to be spread especially for the occasion. When lunch is over the procession will be reformed, and each company escorted back to their respective engine houses. The festivities of the day will be concluded with a grand ball given at Masonic Hall this evening under the auspices of Protection Co No 4.

THAT HAND ENGINE.—Various statements have been made during the past week by the daily press, that to-day or to-morrow, as the case might be, the hand engine, used to such good purpose by Columbian No 3, will be formally turned over, in conformity with an order issued by the Common Council and directed to Chief Engineer Bruen. But it seems that all of these statements have been made prematurely or at all events the engine is still in the custody of No 3. It is true the Chief Engineer was directed some time ago by a resolution to turn the hand engine over to Tiger No 5 which order would doubtless have been carried into execution had not the members of No 3 determined to "send her off" in good style. The seeming long delay is attributable to that determination on the part of the members. We are authorized by Mr Johnston the Foreman of No 3, to state that all arrangements have been perfected and the old engine which, for thirteen years has rendered good service will be turned over this evening without fail. The boys have a very laudable pride in the matter and do not propose to allow this engine to be carted away like a piece of common merchandise, but intend to send her off with due honors, since they must part with her. This evening at 7 o'clock the members of the Company will turn out and take the engine up to her future home and turn her over into the custody of the members of Tiger Engine Company No 5 in observance of the formalities usual on such occasions.

HOODLUMISM PUNISHMENT.—On Tuesday evening five young hoodlums who were driving through the streets at a furious rate of speed in an express wagon, shouting and laughing, were requested by officers Sheehan and Hudson to drive slower and make less noise. For this kindly offered admonition the officers received a most insolent and obscene answer from one of the ringleaders. On making this retort, the driver lashed his horses into a gallop and passed on leaving the officers far behind. However it's a long lane which does not turn, and while these hoodlums were driving carelessly down another street the two officers came suddenly on them unawares and captured the whole squad. They were then politely escorted to jail, and placed in durance vile for the night. Yesterday morning they were called upon to confront the stern judicial gaze of the Police Judge. Each entered a plea of not guilty but that did not exonerate the young rascals from the punishment they so richly deserved. The Court imposed a fine of $5 on each offender accompanied with a severe reprimanding. The parents of these interesting young gentlemen had no alternative but to liquidate the fine or allow them to go to jail for three days. They chose the former and the boys were liberated.

STEAM ENGINES.—We learn that the Willamette Iron Works Company have contracted with Mr Charles F Millard of Victoria for the construction of a pair of engines of nine inch bore and twenty inches stroke to be used in propelling a boat upon the waters of the Stickeen river the hull of which is already in course of completion.

NEW SIDEWALK.—Residents of [illegible] portion of South Portland have been [illegible] with a laudable ambition on the subject of street improvements. We learn that a petition will be presented to the Common Council at its next meeting [illegible] to lay a new sidewalk [illegible] certain portions of [illegible] street.

THE [illegible] LECTURE [illegible] half past 7 o'clock in the [illegible] of the Presbyterian Church. At [illegible] of the lecture a meeting of [illegible] will be held. The [illegible]

ARRIVED AT LAST.—Yesterday morning the schooner Superior arrived at this port from San Francisco. She was towed up from Astoria by the Emma Hayward and now lies at Flanders' wharf discharging cargo.

MET AND ADJOURNED.—The U S District Court convened yesterday morning [illegible] the usual [illegible] No business was transacted and the court adjourned [illegible]

"LIKE A BAD PENNY."—Among the passengers who arrived on the steamer [illegible] evening was the renowned St Louis [illegible] and Wrestling Joe of Caruthers estate notoriety. While in San Francisco he is said to have accumulated a considerable sum of money by begging. So successful was Joe as a beggar it is strongly hinted that the public patience of San Francisco became well nigh exhausted with his ceaseless [illegible] and [illegible] that they voted him a [illegible] nuisance and found a pretext for sending him off [illegible] We might predict that Joe [illegible] in this [illegible] will be materially abridged since his character is [illegible] well established in the [illegible]

The case was called but in consequence of the absence of several material witnesses it went over until this morning.

PRAYER MEETING.

The Union Temperance Prayer meeting was held last evening at the Congregational Church. The large audience room of the Church was filled with attentive listeners. Rev Dr Dillon conducted the exercises which were opened by singing followed by prayer by Rev Mr Medbury after which Dr Dill[illegible] made some suggestive remarks. We should suggest however that a little too much time is occupied in the opening exercises. Forty-five minutes taken out of the hour and a half allotted for the meeting leave comparatively little time for the other exercises. The remainder of the evening was taken up with short addresses and prayers. A new and interesting feature of the meeting was the part taken by the ladies several of whom spoke in a way that showed their words came from the heart. One in particular who asked that her husband might be remembered in the prayers of Christians touched a chord in many hearts which had not before been reached. A letter was read from a lady living in the city asking that her husband might be made the object of special prayer. A letter was also read from Dr Lindsley expressing his hearty sympathy with the cause and regret that illness prevented his attendance, and proffering the use of the Presbyterian Church for the next meeting. A suggestion made by Mr Hugh Small, that a lady be appointed temporary Treasurer to receive whatever contributions may be placed in her hands, was promptly acted on and Mrs J M Sparrow was chosen to fill that office. Mr Small also suggested that the Treasurer be instructed to telegraph at once to the ladies societies at Xenia Ohio, and at San Francisco conveying the congratulations and sympathy of the friends of temperance here with their efforts, and asking their prayers on our behalf and the Treasurer was accordingly instructed to do so.

To-morrow evening being the time for the regular weekly prayer meetings no union service will be held but the next meeting will be held at the Presbyterian Church Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

More rain.

Stick to your umbrella.

Firemen's parade to day.

Thanks to W F & Co for favors.

Samuel C Mills is back again from Port Townsend.

It most always rains about the time a steamer arrives.

The schooner Oregonian will take away a large quantity of ash lumber.

The porter at the Cosmopolitan had a regular A No 1 Saratoga to "tackle" last night.

The Tacoma had quite a number of passengers yesterday. Flour was the principal portion of her cargo.

The machinery is being taken out of the Mary Bell and transferred to Fred Congdon's new tug boat, the Clyde.

Chitt and the boys at the Postoffice were industriously at work last evening wrestling much Eastern paper mail.

The Turn Verein Society will be without members of the active order if the girls don't let em alone. Another wedding this week and no telling when another Turner will drop out of line.

Everybody has stolen an umbrella and are none the worse for that. Here's the way an exchange speaks of an instance where a prominent citizen in Indianapolis was arrested and lodged in jail for simply purloining an umbrella: "For what did the patriots of '76 fight the veterans of 1812 receive a pension, and the heroes of 1861 invade the South, if an American citizen can be imprisoned for stealing an umbrella?"

RAILROAD MEETING TO-NIGHT.

The meeting to be held at Ankeny's Hall this evening, to take into consideration the subject of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake railroad is already attracting considerable attention among the business men of the city, as the matter is of vital importance to the prosperity and growth of Portland and it is thought that such action may be taken here as will have some influence in securing the passage of the bill now before Congress. The meeting will be addressed by several persons briefly and perhaps resolutions offered expressive of the sense of this public upon the matter. It is intended as a business more than a talking meeting and for business men. All persons who have a property interest in our city should be on hand at 7:30 this evening. It is millions won to the city of Portland to have the road built, and the good work may be aided if the people will turn out.

AN IMPORTANT ORDINANCE.

Probably one of the most important ordinances which has passed the Common Council of the city of Portland for a long time is the one numbered 1434 and entitled "An ordinance regulating the mode of expenditures of the public moneys and the presentation of claims."

For the benefit of the public we republish portions of this important ordinance and call special attention to its provisions.

The first section of this ordinance provides that no portion of any appropriation made out of any fund in the City Treasury the mode of expenditure whereof is not expressly provided for by ordinance shall be deemed applicable to the payment of any claim nor shall any claim be audited or presented to the Common Council except as provided for.

All claims shall be presented to the Auditor during office hours on or before the day preceding the day fixed for the meeting of the Common Council. If presented on the day of meeting it shall be laid over to the next succeeding one unless excepted in extraordinary cases. Such claims shall be in the name of the party interested therein and shall have attached thereto a certificate signed by such party or his duly authorized agent to the effect that he is the party or agent of the person requested to furnish the supplies and perform the work mentioned in said bill; that the same has been duly furnished or performed and that the prices charged are the lowest current market rates for labor performed and for the articles of the same quality as those furnished or that the prices charged is agreed upon by contract and shall be endorsed (if correct) approved, with the date of approval and signed by the committee or officer authorized to make such expenditure.

A claim presented to the Auditor for supplies or work unauthorized in express terms by any ordinance or resolution or for which no appropriation has been made applicable to the payment thereof may be presented to the Council if endorsed by the proper officer or committee. Claims in the nature of damages for extraordinary services or not properly under the supervision of any committee or officer may also be presented if endorsed by two members of the Council to the effect that they consider such claim or any portion thereof is just and reasonable. The Auditor shall make such endorsements upon any claim of the character described in this Section as shall enable the Council to determine as to whether the same is a legal or equitable claim against the city or otherwise and what action is necessary for its payment or for such portion as may be deemed just.

No expense for supplies, or labor or both exceeding in the aggregate the sum of one hundred dollars shall be incurred unless expressly provided for by ordinance and no liability for a less sum than one hundred dollars shall be incurred, except as hereinafter provided.

A committee or officer may be authorized by resolution of the Common Council to incur an expense in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars for any specified object or purpose provided an appropriation applicable to the payment thereof has previously been made in which case the Auditor shall furnish such committee or officer with a copy of such authorization for delivery to the party furnishing the supplies or doing the work therein specified to be returned by him to the Auditor with the claim therefor.

In case of any accident to any portion of the fire apparatus hydrants or cisterns rendering the same unfit for service, the Committee on Fire and Water and Chief Engineer shall be authorized to have such repairs made at once anything in this ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding and they shall report to the Common Council at its next meeting the necessity for such action.

GRANGES OF YAMHILL COUNTY.

The Council of Subordinate Granges of Yamhill county composed of Master and four delegates of each Subordinate Grange, convened at Lafayette March [illegible]th at 10 A M and was called to order by A B Henry W C D.

On permanent organization the following officers were elected:

Alex Reed W M; R R Laughlin W O; A J Pittman W L; H C Dale W S; T R Fowley W A S; Q Jansen W C D; Smith W T; Alex Watt W Sec; T F Fristoe W G K; Mrs A M Martin Ceres; Mrs S S Whitcomb Pomona; Mrs R R Laughlin, Flora.

Satisfactory reports were received from business agents showing large reductions in prices to Grangers, and better prospects for the future.

The Council provided for the collection and tabulation of statistics of products of all kinds.

The business necessary to render this Council permanent and to provide for the election of delegates was transacted.

A CARD.

The following note has been handed us by Mr Oxer Librarian of the Portland Library which we publish for the express benefit of whom it may concern. The person or individual to whom slight allusion is made will doubtless recognize the "picture."

On the 1st of every month four gentlemen members of the Portland Library, have kindly volunteered to contribute four bits for the purchase of Harper's Magazine to be presented to the gentleman (God save the mark) who for the last month or two has Ermustake, taken the Library copy from the table and forgotten to return it. They also propose to enclose, at the same time a copy of the ten commandments for that gentle[illegible] especial perusal all of which can be obtained by calling upon or furnishing his address to the Librarian.

RAILROAD MEETING.

There will be a mass meeting held at the Council Chamber in East Portland on Saturday evening March 14 1874 at 7 o'clock to take such action as will tend towards the passage of the bill now before Congress for the construction of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.

The Temperance Alliance held another meeting last Saturday but as it had not been well advertised, but few were present.

The remains of the Hon C C Stiles, who died last Sunday were buried on Tuesday near his late residence on the Washougal. Several of the citizens of Vancouver attended the funeral.

Politics are quiet on the surface although there is a strong undercurrent setting in many directions. Aspirants for office are making soundings in all directions to see what the situation may be. The Superintendent of Schools for the county informs us that he does not intend to be a candidate for re-election.

There is quite a commotion among the whisky saloons of this place. One or two [illegible] are reported and others will [illegible] Whether it is owing to want of patronage or [illegible] that such is the case or from fear of a female crusade we cannot say. From present indications we should judge that there would be but little need of a crusade upon the saloons of this place.

The weather on this side of the Columbia has been quite [illegible] stormy thus far this month and has been unusually bad for the whole winter. The oldest inhabitant who is supposed to know all about the weather has been promising better weather for a long time. He has [illegible] and his only [illegible] will [illegible] We are all in search of him—the men with pitch forks and the women with broomsticks. If he don't give us better weather the cattle will be after him. We advise him to keep out of the way till better weather comes along.

Last Friday we had the pleasure of attending the monthly examination of the public schools. In the primary department under Miss Eddings we noticed a great improvement especially in the discipline of the school. The scholars recited better than we had ever heard them before and we should judge they were making good progress. In the intermediate grades under Miss Clark, there is a very marked improvement. The lessons in mental arithmetic of which we before complained of being too long, have been materially shortened and the scholars are making thorough work. Prof Curtis examined one of her classes in grammar and they did admirably. We like this plan of calling upon other teachers to examine classes for it shows whether or not scholars have been "crammed" for examination. In the higher grade under Prof Curtis we heard only the classes in reading. Particular attention is paid to the rules of reading, of which the pupils showed a thorough knowledge and a good beginning has been made in phonetic spelling. The teachers all seem to be doing their best and we hope they will continue to do as well. When we find them slackening in their duties we shall make a note of it.

TWENTY DOLLARS FOR A KISS.—Martin Reske was accused this morning at the Police Court of kissing Mrs Lizzie Jancke. It appears from the evidence given that last Friday a strange man came to Mrs Jancke's house and inquired if she had rooms to let. She replied she had and he requested permission to see them. After the rooms were visited they returned to the parlor. The well-built form and handsome face of Mrs Jancke attracted the stranger's attention and when an opportunity presented itself he put his arm around her neck squeezed and kissed her. She screamed loudly for assistance and the stranger left and she was unable to find out his name. Last Sunday while at church she noticed the person who kissed her. She informed her husband and he called the man into a neighbor's house. When accused of the act he confessed that he did so, he "meant no harm, she was so pretty he could not help it, and he would like to give her another." The Judge thought there was too much freedom shown and Reske was fined $20 and costs.—Milwaukee W[illegible] 13 '29

BRILLIANT WEDDING.—NEW YORK March [illegible]—One of the most magnificent weddings of the season took place yesterday at the residence of Cyrus W Field the bride being his daughter Miss Grace Field, while the bridegroom was Edward Lindley of this city. Nearly 1,500 invitation cards were issued. The guests included the most distinguished families of New York. Bridal presents worth at least $500,000 comprising numerous valuable articles, were received by the bride. After the ceremony, the happy couple received the congratulations of their numerous friends and in the evening they started on a bridal tour. They will sail very soon for a European tour.

AN AMERICAN PILGRIMAGE

THE CATHOLICS OF THE UNITED STATES TO VISIT ROME.

From the Catholic Review

The Catholic Review has this week important news to communicate to the friends of the pilgrimage From the first our only fears for its successful accomplishment were based on the difficulty of inducing some suitable and permanent Catholic organization to assume the grave and responsible duties of its [illegible] direction, and satisfy the ecclesiastical authorities that so momentous an undertaking would be so managed as to reflect credit on the Catholics of America and to accomplish what its protectors piously hoped for as its results This has now been done. The Catholic union of New York, yielding to the urgency of the advocates of the measure—yielding with a willingness which was only tempered by that happy prudence which will run no risks even to favor a most Catholic proposal—appointed a committee to ascertain the state of lay Catholic feeling in America on the subject The report was as might be expected wholly satisfactory—that a pilgrimage properly conducted and organized would be popular with our people, would doubtless obtain the good wishes and blessing of the hierarchy and would be fruitful of good results. It was therefore resolved to appoint an additional committee of the Catholic union circle of New York to still further call for public sentiment on the subject and to organize the movement in a manner worthy of the Catholic name. This committee consisted of J D Kelly, P M Haverty Franklin H Churchill and Charles N Morse Beside there engaged in the consultation ex-officio Dr Henry J Anderson chairman of the Catholic union, and Rev P F Dealy, S J, its spirited director There were also present the editors of the New York Freeman's Journal and of The Catholic Review The committee having waited on his grace the Archbishop of New York, and having ascertained that such a pilgrimage as was contemplated would receive his blessing, prepared the following letter which has been sent to the archbishops and bishops of America Accompanying it is a provisional plan such as could be put forth with their present knowledge of the pilgrimage It will serve to indicate the motive and object of the organizers, their loyal devotion to the holy see and to his representatives in America, our immediate ecclesiastical superiors, subject to whose advice everything concerning the policy of the pilgrimage ought to be, and undoubtedly will be managed the business details of the undertaking being attended to by the lay organizers It indicates that the end of the pilgrimage is the prison of the Vatican and that en route other shrines may be visited at the discretion of the pilgrims It indicates that the maximum expense of time and money need not exceed fifty days and $350 gold, and that the outlay will almost certainly be considerably under that expense if a suitable number join, though of that there need be no doubt the difficulty promising to be to accommodate all anxious to go One point yet to be decided by the committee of arrangements will be the date of departure some believing that a month later enabling the pilgrims to be in Rome on St. Peter's day would be more suitable another, the port of debarkation and the point from which return tickets are to be available some preferring for the gravest reasons, Queenstown or Liverpool to Brest and Havre, whether also the pilgrimage should visit any of the Irish shrines such as "Cashel of the Kings, or the English such as the tomb of St. Thomas, martyred for the defense of the rights of the holy church or the shrine of the Sacred Heart at Paray le Monial. As it was important to save time in publishing the present circulars the committee wisely determined to leave these matters to be arranged within the time intervening between this and the completion of the organization Meantime we believe they consider it desirable that they should hear on such points from those anxious to join the pilgrimage Now is the time for all who desire to aid in this glorious work to come forward

LETTER TO THE HIERARCHY

NEW YORK, Feb. 14, 1874.—REVEREND DEAR SIR Prompted by many desires expressed from different parts of the United States as well as in New York, the Catholic union of this city has appointed a committee, the object of which is to give a definite shape and achievement to the pious wish for a pilgrimage of Catholic men from the United States to the shrines of the apostles and to the imprisoned vicar of Christ in Rome This committee, after obtaining all the information within reach, have determined on the propriety of organizing such a pilgrimage to start about the middle of May from the port of New York, to land at Brest or Havre, proceed to the sanctuary of the grotto of our Lady of Lourdes, where a day or perhaps two will be spent in devotion, and thence to proceed to Rome to visit the Holy Father, the shrines of the apostles and other famous sanctuaries of that city After this it is to be left to the choice or devotion of each pilgrim, singly or in groups to visit other sanctuaries or depart in any direction

The committee have submitted their proposition to his grace the archbishop of New York and have received the expression of his cordial good wishes for its success, and the assurance that a properly organized pilgrimage will have his blessing

While the object of the committee will be attained if only the fifty or sixty who have expressed the determination should take part in this pilgrimage, they do not propose in any case, in order to avoid the inconvenience of too great a crowd, that the number shall exceed the capacity of one first-class steamer that is to say, from 150 to 200 souls or if the devotion and personal fitness of other applicants should become urgent the utmost limit will be 250 souls

If the number of 150 pilgrims of proper character will make application in time the committee can engage exclusive room in a first-class steamer, thereby enabling them under the guidance of reverend spiritual directors to organize and enjoy in common suitable exercises

The committee whose action is only to give shape to the pious designs of others to secure thorough discipline and to provide for the reasonable needs of the pilgrimage desire that if possible, it shall embrace Catholic men from every diocese in our country

The object of this circular is to ask the blessing of your —— on the movement, and such recommendations of Catholic men in your diocese who would wish to enter into its pious work as you may condescend to give

The initiative having been delayed so long there is no time to be lost on the part of those wishing to go in making formal application

The particulars, so far as practicable, are embodied in the accompanying circular which we venture to hope may meet with your approbation and encouragement With profound respect, &c

PILGRIMAGE OF CATHOLICS FROM THE UNITED STATES TO ROME.

Responding to many desires expressed for a pilgrimage from the United States to the shrines of the apostles and to the imprisoned Vicar of Christ in Rome the Catholic union of New York has appointed a committee charged with the organization of this work

This committee after ascertaining such a movement, properly organized would have the blessing and cordial good wishes of his grace the archbishop of New York, from the information obtained after consultation propose the following programme

1 To organize a pilgrimage to be composed of Catholic men coming as far as possible from all parts of the country to start from the port of New York not later than the middle of next May

2 On arriving at Brest or Havre the pilgrimage will proceed to the grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes and after one or perhaps two days of devotion at this sanctuary continue its way to Rome After paying the united homage of the pilgrims to the holy father and obtaining his blessing on them and their country and a visit in common to the shrines of the apostles and some other of the most famous sanctuaries in Rome it will be at the option of the pilgrims severally or in groups to direct their steps to other sanctuaries, to protract their visits or to return home

3 The time necessary for the accomplishment of the pilgrimage from the departure from New York to the arrival in return to the same port need not exceed fifty days

4 The cost for the passenger going alone and returning on the route for the time proposed would not be more than $350 in gold including the necessary expenses for a seven days sojourn in Rome The actual expense will be materially diminished by the larger number of pilgrims If any surplus remains after paying all expenses it belongs to the pilgrims

5 The pilgrimage will accomplish its first object if only fifty pilgrims were to go The number of those expressing the desire already exceeds this figure The committee is not willing to undertake the organization of so many as to endanger its prudent accomplishment, or make difficult the matters of transportation lodging &c The proposed limit is the accommodation afforded by one first class steamer This will be from 150 to 200 souls

6 If 150 persons of suitable dispositions on or before the 20th of March have expressed their settled purpose of [illegible] and shall [illegible] to secure the committee of arrangements against [illegible] incurred for them the committee can secure exclusive room in a steamer of the first [illegible] that [illegible] the pilgrims [illegible] exercises as may be proposed by the spiritual director who will have charge of the pilgrims [illegible] the company

The immediate co-operation of Catholic [illegible] is cordially invited

The shortness of the time will [illegible] the necessity for a very prompt response to this circular on the part of those wishing to go

After the 20th of March the securing a steamer of the highest character will [illegible] be very uncertain

The various schemes before Congress for the remedy of existing evils in our national system of finances are still attracting considerable attention from the leading journals in the East many of them claiming that the delay of that body to take important action on some of these measures is greatly encouraging speculation and likely be followed by serious commercial disaster, but none of them seem to have well defined ideas of just what steps Congress ought to take or which one of the many schemes is the really meritorious one The present indications are that if anything at all is carried through on this point it will be some bill providing for an inflation of the currency which however much favor it will receive in the East will have but few friends on the Pacific coast As yet however nothing materially affecting financial matters has been done and the session may close without any action in this regard The question of what are the remedies that ought to be applied by government either State or national is well worthy the careful consideration of our legislators and the intelligent agitation and discussion of the subject will it is hoped, result in the development of measures of a character that will give the people some security against the occurrence of such disasters as overtook them last year and prevent the unlimited speculations of cliques and rings which tended so greatly to produce those disasters

The Last Illness of Senator Sumner—His Last Words, "Take Care of the Civil Rights Bill"

WASHINGTON March 11 —During the last few hours of Senator Sumner's illness his intellect seemed much clearer and he was perfectly conscious to the last This condition was doubtless the result of his recovery from the effect of morphine administered during the morning His sufferings toward the last seemed intense and he several times exclaimed "I want quiet I am tired" He recognized friends who came into the room One of the last to whom he spoke was ex Attorney General Hoar of Massachusetts, to whom he said "Take care of the Civil Rights bill" About a quarter before 3 o'clock he was attacked by a slight spasm in which he died Around the bed at the time were ex Attorney General Hoar Dr [illegible] Johnson of this city Major Ben Perley Poore Geo T Downing and James Wormsley Other friends who had been with the dying Senator throughout the day had left, not previously imagining that death would occur so soon Senators Schurz and Boutwell [illegible] the room just as he breathed his last but Sumner was then too near dissolution to recognize them

The only relative that Senator Sumner has is a sister who [illegible] in San Francisco a [illegible] immediately after his death When the death of Senator Sumner was announced to the crowd [illegible] the sidewalk in front of the house the grief of many especially of the colored people hundreds of whom were gathered [illegible] exclamations [illegible] and [illegible] about him [illegible] friend some hours previous to the attack [illegible] health he was [illegible] hard [illegible] funeral ceremonies will take place in the Senate Chamber but of course arrangements are not yet completed

GENERAL NOTES

The Kansas Senate has passed a joint resolution submitting the question of woman suffrage to a popular vote.

W H Burk proprietor of the Detroit Commercial Advertiser has been fined $100 and the costs in four cases and sentence suspended in the fifth for folding hand bills into his paper We have cautioned some of our country exchanges in regard to to this violation of the law

Now we know all about it The Siamese Twins were Xiphopages of the class of Terata-anacatadidyma, and may be called for short Omphalophagus Xiphodidymus [illegible] apostrophe to the Philadelphia [illegible] chorus We thank the [illegible] for that word

The Mayor of Norfolk Va recently received a letter from Atlanta Ga inquiring the population of the city and whether the writer would be permitted to run a keno bank He said that he could give good references as to character and would be willing to [illegible] the Mayor an interest

There are rumors of a movement to consolidate all the steamboat lines on the lower Mississippi into a single joint stock company This means if it means anything [illegible] to control the river business and rates of transportation by a single monopoly If there is any truth in the report the movement is one which will be watched with interest [illegible] by agriculturists and business [illegible] of the entire Mississippi Valley [illegible] no less [illegible] railroad [illegible]

POLITICAL NOTES
